"Countless the various species of mankind; countless the shades which separate mind from mind."

— Gifford

B-SC

If variety is the spice of life, then Birmingham-Southern College is highly seasoned. There are so many different ideas and interests; it is the variety, the differences in people, that make BSC the very special place that it is. Freedom to be different, to think what you want, and to express yourself openly is freedom to be yourself.

SOLITUDE

Spare time is something that is very rare at B-SC; even more rare is that time spent alone with oneself. Learning to interact with other people is an integral part of growing as an individual. Learning to be alone is just as important. Although solitude is rare, many B-SC students have found sanctuaries all their own: in their rooms, by the fountain, at the academic quad after classes, or in some hidden place.

CONGLOMERATION

The ability to accept a person and his ideas whether or not your ideas concur is an important part of growth as an individual, a part that takes place during the college years. With Birmingham-Southern's variety of people, the school is a perfect setting for such growth.

COMPANIONSHIP

Everyone needs to be with another person sometime. College is the only time that there is always someone available. It is reassuring to know that there are nine hundred other people on this campus who will be there willing to talk.

STUDENT LIFE

"I'm sure you all can guess that going around campus asking students what they think about BSC student life could evoke some strange responses.

I did it because I really had no idea what to write.

"Most first responses were curt, often witty. For instance, one fellow told me I ought to open the section with a huge photo of the barren lunar landscape topped by the headline, 'Is There Life at BSC?' A rather outspoken young lady suggested I use pictures of dead bushes painted green throughout the section; she said they symbolized her conception of campus life.

"Not everyone was quite so negative . . ."

—Ron Watson

"You know, the best friendships befall you unsought; you don't find them at planned functions or eternal parties."

"We were walking across the quad in a drunken stupor leaning on each other; that was the only way."

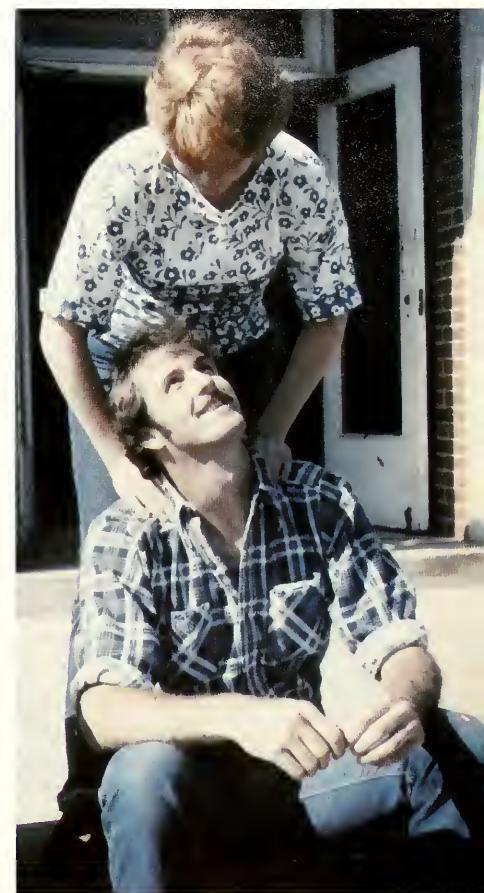

"We're so unfamiliar and unaccustomed. We're always getting into screwed-up messes that our parents never find out about, but that we have to get ourselves out of."

"You want to fill life to the brim until you can't feel and then you don't want to move for fear you'll break the surface tension. You get full of ideas, hope, inspiration, and then just sit and feel full."

"People who say campus life is boring simply lack imagination. They expect entertainment. You've got to make it yourself."

"These are probably the tenderest times you will have."

"One thing that I can say is that I've really matured as an actress since I've been here; you know it's inspiring just to be in that building . . . to have the opportunity to be on that stage . . . Arnie Powell and Lynda Linford are simply brilliant."

"It seems like I never go anywhere except the art building. Every waking moment I'm working on something."

or joy. Well, not always; studying either effuses with spirit and vibrancy or smothers. It's really exciting to see people breathe in knowledge, and then breathe out kindness, compassion, and understanding — a natural, free respiration."

"I killed an ant walking across my book and it writhed in pain. I felt bad."

"I get excited when I have an opportunity to relate things learned in school to real life, but my experience is so limited, I can't relate too much. Being in school prevents it. The lovely and eternal truths imparted by greats of the past are lost on me because I'm forced to seek only dry words. The rigors of my schedule keep me from enjoying them to the fullest."

"I've been studying like hell."

"You learn from your contemporaries, picking words — gleaning knowledge."

"He sat in class with sleep sticking in the corners of his eyes disgusted with the molecule madness, wondering with a poet's gaze what he was doing there."

"It's really fun when we get all together equally, mutually unprepared, throw our arms around each other and scream, 'WHAT ARE WE GONNA DO?!?!"

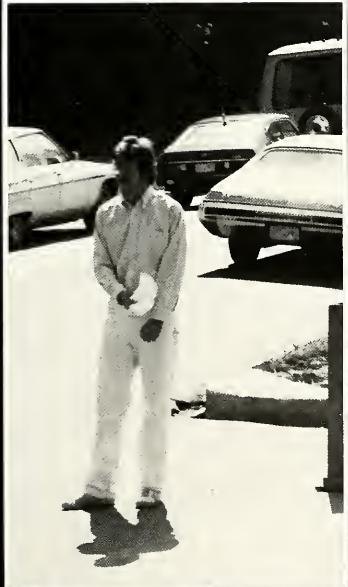

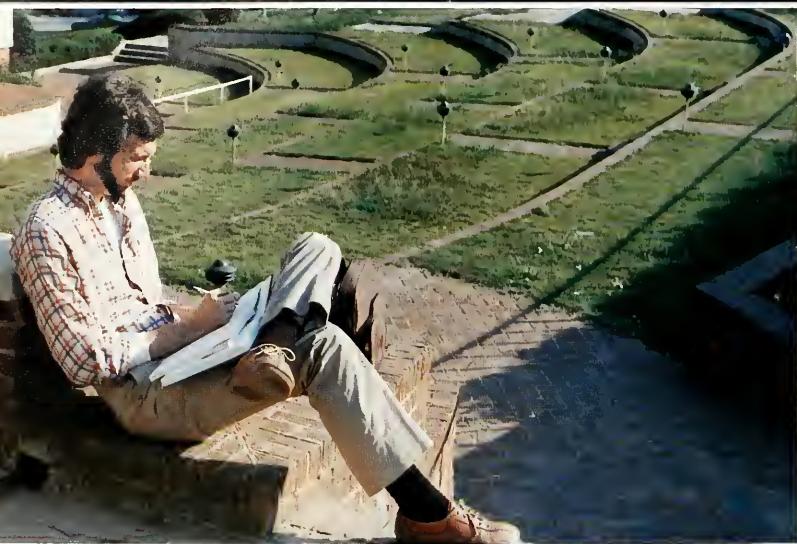

"I remember my freshman year going down to the President's home. We had walked down there with our covered beer cans (for propriety). At the President's home we heard more interesting tales of professors."

"Professors infuse the younger generation . . . they plant seeds. Some plant seeds of bitterness, hypocrisy, and affliction, but others insure their longevity in the lives of their students if even through a transendent respect. To know them is almost a semi-holiness."

Wasn't it Alexander Pope who said, "Teachers are the gate keepers of the future"? Some are foppish, some are vibrant. The careful thinkers are the insurers."

"We were sitting in the Student Center at 4:00 a.m. . . . just talking. We went to see a movie, came back, and went into Snavely to . . . hmm . . . talk. The guard caught us and asked us what we were doing. I guess we lost track of the time."

"Sitting by the fountain at night is one of my favorite memories. The fountain's a nice touch to the atmosphere on campus."

"It's really neat sitting in the amphitheatre in the dark with the roses and Martians."

"We sat out on the bleachers in the amphitheatre the night before graduation. Looking at all those empty bleachers under the brash mercury light creating those eerie shadows . . . and thinking of all the people who would be there the next day, all in a frenzy . . . graduating . . . made me feel sort of sad."

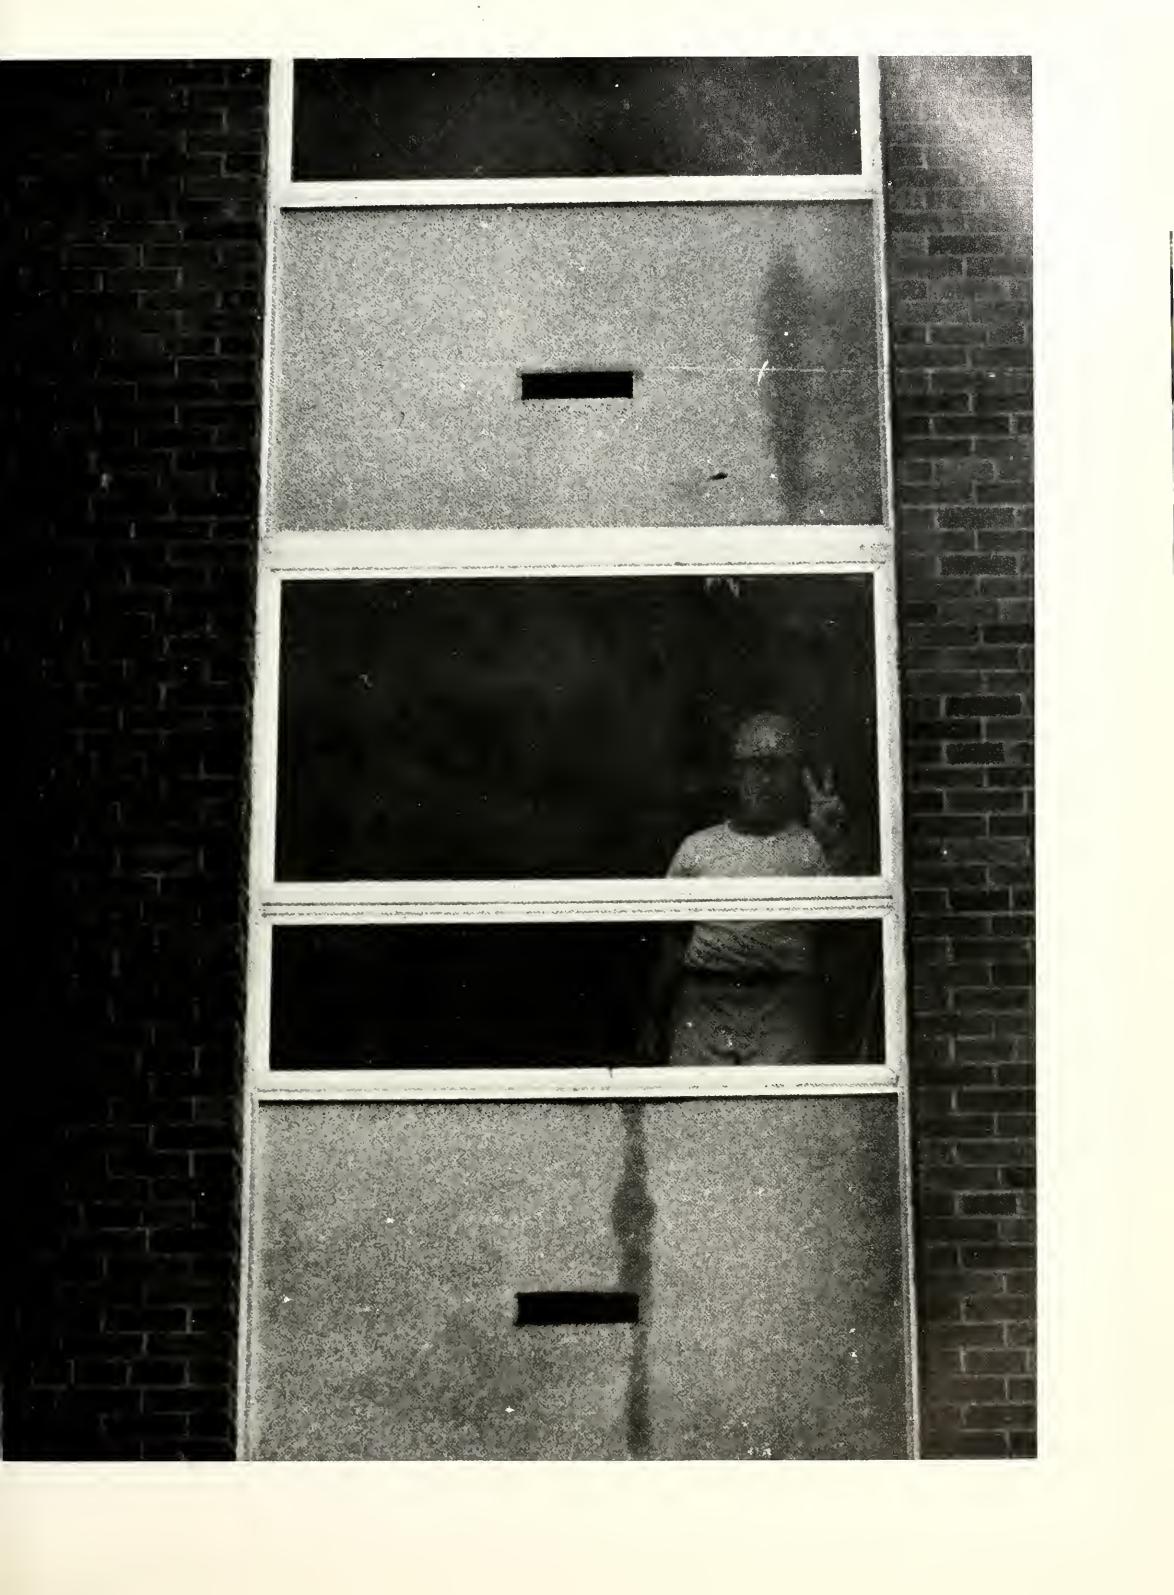

"I like to sleep when it rains."

"It's so cozy when it's bucketing rain outside and you can see the campus becoming pock-marked with water."

"Once it was raining so hard it looked like gray bars on the windows. I could hear recorder music filtering out of the corner window; it seemed almost medieval."

"If I had a rowboat I would love it when it rained. I had two pairs of shoes ruined and one umbrella torn to shreds. I feel like part duck wading to class."

"On days when I don't have lab, I like to lie beside the fountain and soak up sunshine. It's a nice change from the smelly inside of the organic lab, and sunshine doesn't eat holes in my clothes either."

"I like to lie around in the grass, except for the bugs."

"Whenever I need to get away from the mad rush of life, I go and lie down near the chapel and do nothing but watch the clouds go by."

"We couldn't wait until Friday to leave, so we left about midnight Thursday night and drove all night. It felt so good to be baking on the beaches when everyone back at good 'ol B-SC was sweating through Friday classes."

"It's funny that in my P.E. class I'm ready to pass out after running  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile but on the beach I can run ten miles easily."

"The rhythm of the ocean waves affects me like a truth serum. While we were walking on the beach we told each other things we normally wouldn't say. The beach draws you closer."

“Sometimes I'll be sitting in class and suddenly be hit by an uncontrollable urge to run out of class, off campus, and out of the city. To me the woods are a revitalizing balm.”

“We canoed through the Bankhead National Forest last Interim. It was just gorgeous. There were these huge ice sculptures dripping off bare, craggy bluffs. We got all wet and almost froze. The next week we all had bad cases of the flu, but it was well worth it.”

“We took off Saturday morning before dawn and made it to Mentone by 9:00 a.m. The snow was powdery and great. It's amazing that snow skiing would be only two hours from Birmingham.”

“Walking in the woods during the fall is like walking across a great bowl of Rice Krispies.”

"We sat by the fountain half the night talking."

"To fall in love with that quaint, essential madness makes you want to speak French."

"We made a deal not to talk except in French; we looked up words all night and drank wine . . . The practical benefit of an impractical course."

"I'm just looking for my M.R.S."

"Fall is the time for having affairs."

"Sometimes the affectation and expediency gets almost ludicrous. There are a lot of these transient, cosmetic problems, but they're artificial, imposed on the essence of this place — no basis for affection or dislike."

"This place has an ineffable quality that warrants affection. In spite of the nasty air, it has a lingering beauty that defies words to wrap it with. The trees between Munger and Phillips are always there, always a friend: the gingko, that harbinger of fall and spring, with its sweet ginger smell; the steep hill by the chapel rudely planted with grass with bare roots for stubbing your toes."

"I've really changed since I've been here; I've become more 'worldly wise'. I'm not as shocked by the behavior of my fellow students . . . it's all so commonplace. You know, when I came to 'Southern I couldn't say 'sex'. Sitting at dinner one night I almost had to leave the room because somebody said 'sex'. Then I went around for two weeks and would go up to people and say 'sex, sex, sex'."

"It's funny. Late at night we make idiotic espousals of universal truths and then wake up the next day feeling prosaic, dull, and hollowed out."

"The purpose of college is to realize the mystery and awe, and respond. It's a loss in innocence and a gain in wisdom — not in the sense that we know more but in a measure of humility."

"I have an affection for the school even though it is nasty in a lot of ways. I enjoy my friends . . . You know, it's a really neat idea — a small group of people getting together to grow wise. We're here for four years, for fruition, growing, learning."

ORGANIZATIONS

SGA

The purpose of Birmingham-Southern's Student Government Association is to serve the needs of every student on campus. Specifically it represents the students' interests in entertainment, publications, social regulations, food service, recruitment, and academic evaluations. The SGA is a strong, hard working organization. The success of the SGA lies in the support of each student which it represents.

President	Jim McLaughlin
Vice-President	Dick Reddick
Secretary	Don Heflin
Treasurer	Charlie Carlton

Triangle Club

The Triangle Club is made up of twenty-four sophomores who were selected at the end of their freshman year by the outgoing members of the club. They are selected according to high scholarship, leadership, and service to campus and community during their first year at 'Southern. The members of Triangle Club assist with orientation, registration, high school visitation, and other campus activities.

Circle K

The Circle K is a service organization that is sponsored by the Downtown Kiwanis International. It is open to all B-SC students. Each year Circle K sponsors a Blood drive for the Red Cross. This was the second year for the annual 'Red Hot Prof' contest. Dr. Hoyt Kaylor won the contest in which all proceeds were donated to the Leukemia Society of America.

Baptist Campus Ministries

PSSO

The PSSO — President's Student Service Organization — is involved in many areas of college life. These students help with certain parts of the inner workings of the college. They work with fund-raising, recruitment, church relations, and public relations.

Hilltop Singers

The Hilltop Singers are chosen by Mr. Hugh Thomas from among the members of the Concert Choir. This music group helps the college greatly in recruitment efforts, as well as putting on a very entertaining show.

Concert Choir

Cynthia Burbage, Kim Clayton, Jean Costner, Rebecca Fleming, Valerie Robinson, Donna Arrington, Debbie Gamble, Ginger Goodall, Connie Hudson, Beth Pulliam, Melanie Sheets, Sonya Shehane, Jane Templeton, Jo Wise, Deborah Youngblood, John Alford, Ted Clark, Mike Horton, Richard Hunter, Les Reagan, Weymon Snuggs, Kirk Alford, Gerald Davies, Eric Gray, Tim Haynes, David Heer, James Huling, Eugene Lammers, Dawn Urquhart, Ken Watson, Ron Watson, John Winters.

The Concert Choir is an honorary musical organization whose members must audition in order to be considered for selection.

Southern Accent

The Hilltop News is the student newspaper, published bi-weekly during the spring and fall terms. In addition to general campus news items, the Hilltop News also prints interesting articles on current events and also adds feature articles on a variety of topics. The student body was invited to submit articles and suggestions to the paper making it more of a campus project.

The Hilltop News

Black Student Union

The Black Student Union is primarily concerned with the promotion of black culture, as well as black involvement on campus and in the community. In its sixth year at Southern the BSU strives to create a more secure bond between the black students enrolled at B-SC. All programs, benefits, and dances of BSU are open to the entire campus.

Central Bank's Campus Plan makes you feel like you're made of money even if you're busy earning a degree instead of a paycheck.

You get Campus Plan checking with overdraft protection. So you can write a check for more than you have in your account because you'll have a line of credit of at least $100. Your parents can help you get Master Charge or BankAmericard. Just in case you ever need even more money in a hurry. Plus, they can even apply for a loan if you have a tuition bill, or for that matter, any other major school expense coming up.

There's an easy way your parents can transfer money from their Central office to yours. You'll have a college representative in your Central office to answer all your questions about banking.

And as if that isn't enough, Central will be adding even more services shortly.

But the best part of all is that you can get everything the Campus Plan has to offer for only $1.50 a month.

So stop by your nearest Central Bank office and ask about it.

Why can't you find a package like Central's Campus Plan at most other banks?

Maybe for them, it's too much like work.

 CENTRAL BANK
A bank is a bank is a bank. Bunk!

I work harder than most people who have a job. And I don't earn a dime.
But with Central's Campus Plan, college is an occupation I can afford.
